

Are botnets used to run phishing over the phone?

- <http://phonephishing.info> collects user-provided reports about numbers they are receiving phishing calls from (pretty much like Phishtank does)
- Most of the calls are automated and seldom transferred to human operators for old styled “exploitation” of the user
- There is no much knowledge about the phenomenon, besides the fact that calls come from VoIP machines
- Are these machines part of any botnets?
